

HPeterScott Harmyk

Brand Fiction

Author Biography

Peter Scott Harmyk is a graduate of the S.I. Newhouse School of Communications at Syracuse University and The University of New Hampshire School of Law. As a Connecticut attorney and educator, Harmyk has the unique ability to merge intricate and descriptive storytelling with elegantly-constructed prose. A private pilot, Alpine skier and extreme cyclist, Harmyk's greatest thrill comes from storytelling. Also available from the author: Harmyk, Peter Scott. Say Good-bye to Johnnie Blue. Los Angeles: The Outlet Press. 2000. Print. ISBN-10: 1571972064, ISBN-13: 978-1571972064; Harmyk, Peter Scott. A Wind Through Paradise. Los Angeles: The Outlet Press. 2004. Print. ISBN-10:0975351400, ISBN-13: 978-0975351406; Harmyk, Peter Scott. Stalkerazzi. Los Angeles: The Outlet Press. 2006. Print. ISBN-10: 0975351427, ISBN-13: 978-0975351420; The Devil's Seat is the author's fourth novel. His fifth novel entitled Host Couple, a steamy and provocative psychological-thriller, is slated for completion in 2018; his sixth work of fiction, the Renegades of Rome Trilogy (Daughters of the Rhine; Renegades of Rome; The Renegade's Embrace) a three-installment work of historical fiction, will be completed in 2019. Other related works available from this author: the completed screenplay adaptation of Say Good-bye to Johnnie Blue; an original screenplay entitled Starship Carnival. It should be noted that the author has retained all legal rights, copyrights and otherwise, to his previous works for the purposes of reprint or reissue. Any details about Peter Scott Harmyk, his background and his publications, can be obtained through any Web-based query.